The Plant Summit 2019 is organized by the Plant Science Research Network (PSRN) and will focus on developing a community-wide strategic plan that will guide the future of plant science research, education, and training.

Who can apply? Plant scientists at all career levels and research settings are invited to apply. All applications must be received through the online application by Sunday, August 26, 2018 (11:59 PM PST). Selected individuals will be notified in September 2018 and invited to attend the Plant Summit 2019 at Biosphere 2 in Tucson, AZ. Travel expenses will be provided for a limited number of participants.
